1. Cultural Resources and Historic Properties Effects Assessment Methodology

1.1 INTRODUCTION

This methodology explains how the potential effects of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives on cultural resources and historic properties will be addressed in the NEC FUTURE Tier 1 EIS. Specific details regarding compliance with Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA) is documented in the NEC FUTURE Section 106 Strategy and Section 106 Strategy: Approach to Conduct Government-to-Government Consultation with Federally Recognized Indian Tribes.

This methodology presents the regulatory framework, involved government agencies, expected approvals and other outcomes of the Tier 1 EIS process and relevance to Tier 2, project-level assessments. It also identifies data sources, metrics and methods to be used to document existing conditions and analyze environmental consequences. This methodology may be revised as the NEC FUTURE program advances and new information is available.

1.2 DEFINITIONS

Topic areas covered in this methodology include:

- ▶ Cultural Resources: Federal agencies are required, under NEPA [40 CFR § 1508.8] and the NHPA [16 USC 470 et seq.], to consider the effects of a project on historic and cultural resources. Specifically, 40 CFR § 1508.27(b)(8) states that agencies must take into account “the degree to which the action may adversely affect districts, sites, highways, structures, or objects listed in or eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP or National Register) or may cause loss or destruction of significant scientific, cultural, or historical resources.”

The NEPA term “cultural resources” includes all resources included within the Section 106 definition of “historic properties,” (see below) as well as additional resources such as sacred sites, archaeological sites not eligible for the NRHP, and archaeological collections.¹
- ▶ Historic Properties: Section 106 of the NHPA (16 USC 470f) regulations define the term “historic property” as “any prehistoric or historic district, site, building, structure, or object included in or eligible for inclusion in the NRHP. This term includes artifacts, records, and material remains that are related to and located within such properties. The term includes properties of religious and cultural importance to an Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization and that meet the National Register criteria.” [36 CFR n§ 800.16(l)(1)]
- ▶ Native American/Tribal Properties: Section 101 of the NHPA states, “Properties of religious and cultural significance to Indian Tribes may be determined to be eligible for inclusion on the National Register” [16 U.S.C. 470a(d)(6(A))]

1.3 RELATED RESOURCES

The effects assessment from certain other resources evaluated as part of the Tier 1 EIS will contribute to the assessment of effects on cultural resources and historic properties. These related resources are identified in Table 1. Note that the effects assessments for those related resources will be documented within their respective Tier 1 EIS sections.

Effects documented for Cultural Resources and Historic Properties will also be considered in the assessment of Section 4(f) resources.

1.4 AGENCY AND REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

Cultural resources and historic properties are subject to regulation by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP) and the National Park Service (NPS) under the provisions of the NHPA. Federally recognized Indian tribes (represented either by tribal representatives or Tribal Historic Preservation Officers (THPOs) have jurisdiction over cultural resources on Indian reservations and dependent Indian communities, and under NHPA, require consultation with federal agencies for projects off tribal lands that may be located on their ancestral homelands. In considering project impacts, federal agencies are required to consult with the appropriate State Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO) and provide the ACHP an opportunity to comment on the undertaking.

In the evaluation of cultural resources and historic properties for NEC FUTURE, the FRA will consider legislation and regulations, listed in Table 2, consistent with a Tier 1 level of assessment.

*Denotes primary cultural/historic regulations. Each state has various additional environmental regulations and statutes that promote conservation/protection of human and natural resources, including cultural and historic resources.

1.4.1 Regulatory Compliance

The FRA is coordinating the NEPA and Section 106 process. Information gathered in support of the Section 106 process will inform the Tier 1 EIS, and vice versa.

The FRA has determined that the development and adoption of the NEC FUTURE Investment Program is an undertaking with the potential to effect historic properties and is subject to Section 106 of the NHPA (16 U.S.C. § 470f, as amended) and its implementing regulations "Protection of Historic Properties" (36 C.F.R. Part 800). At the Tier 1 level, the standard process, under Section 106, to assess cultural resources and historic properties cannot be fully undertaken because the alternatives will not be developed to a level of detail that can allow such detailed assessment of effects. Accordingly, FRA will follow a modified approach to the standard Section 106 process, but consistent with 36 CFR Part 800.4(b)(2) of the Section 106 regulations, which states, "where alternatives under consideration consist of corridors or large land areas, or where access to properties is restricted, the agency official may use a phased process to conduct identification and evaluation efforts....". For example, a phased process may consist of a records search to identify previously recorded historic properties at an early phase of environmental review for a proposed project, and then, at an appropriate later phase, conduct field survey, apply the NRHP criteria, and seek SHPO/THPO concurrence for NRHP eligibility. The NEC FUTURE approach includes the phased identification of historic properties and the development of a Programmatic Agreement (PA) that will lay out specifically how the requirements of Section 106 will be satisfied during subsequent phases of project development (Tier 2 projects). The PA will be finalized and signed by the FRA and all appropriate parties.

Coordination with SHPOs, THPOs and tribal representatives, ACHP and the National Conference of State Historic Preservation Officers (NCSHPO) will be consistent with the NEC FUTURE Agency Coordination Plan and support the Statement of Principles (SOP) established between the FRA and federal regulatory agencies as part of the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) Pilot program. Development of the PA will also include consultation with Indian Tribes and other Section 106 consulting parties.

1.5 METHODOLOGY TO ASSESS EFFECTS

This effects assessment methodology identifies the approach and assumptions for describing existing conditions of cultural resources and historic properties and environmental consequences of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives on those resources. It identifies data sources, defines the Affected Environment and Context Area considered for cultural resources and historic properties, and the approach for evaluating potential direct effects². Direct effects include encroachment or alternation of existing cultural resources and historic properties. Indirect effects under NEPA are those effects that occur later in time or are further removed in distance. These effects will be addressed in a separate methodology (see Indirect Effects Assessment Methodology).

The Section 106 regulations include the criteria of adverse effect (36 CFR 800.5(a)(1)), which specifically assess how a project may affect the characteristics that qualify a historic property for the NRHP. Examples of direct effects under the Section 106 criteria include physical destruction, damage, alteration, or relocation. Under the Section 106 criteria, indirect effects are viewed differently than under NEPA, and may include assessing introduction of noise, vibration, or visual elements, deterioration through neglect, or even transfer of ownership out of Federal control.

1.5.1 Existing Conditions

The data sources listed in The existing conditions for cultural resources and historic properties will be documented in the Tier 1 EIS for an established Affected Environment (which will also serve as the preliminary area of potential effects (APE) in terms of Section 106 compliance) and Context Area.

The Affected Environment is a 1-mile-wide swath centered on the representative route for Tier 1 EIS Alternatives. The 1-mile swath is sufficiently wide to:

- ▶ Encompass and account for the improvements associated with a Representative Route including infrastructure improvements (such as embankments, aerial structures, track improvements), ancillary facilities (such as stations, yards, and parking structures) or service changes.
- ▶ Account for resources that may be sensitive to noise, vibration or visual impacts or may be part of designated districts that fall outside of the representative route of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives.

Table 3 will be used to establish the existing conditions for cultural resources and historic properties.

² Direct Effects are caused by the action and occur at the same time and place (40 CFR § 1508.8)

The existing conditions for cultural resources and historic properties will be documented in the Tier 1 EIS for an established Affected Environment (which will also serve as the preliminary area of potential effects (APE)³ in terms of Section 106 compliance) and Context Area.

The Affected Environment is a 1-mile-wide swath centered on the representative route for Tier 1 EIS Alternatives. The 1-mile swath is sufficiently wide to:

- ▶ Encompass and account for the improvements associated with a Representative Route including infrastructure improvements (such as embankments, aerial structures, track improvements), ancillary facilities (such as stations, yards, and parking structures) or service changes.
- ▶ Account for resources that may be sensitive to noise, vibration or visual impacts or may be part of designated districts that fall outside of the representative route of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives.

Those sites within the Affected Environment and listed on the NRHP will be identified (NRHP listing name, type of resource (site, district, or railroad historic districts) and special/unique characteristics of resource) and mapped using GIS data listed in Table 2, and presented in the Tier 1 EIS by county for each state. Where Alternatives are proposed outside of an existing transportation corridor or where new elevated structures are proposed, the FRA will collect state-level GIS data from individual SHPOs to supplement NRHP data where it is available. The state data vary in consistency for level of detail, mapping formats, and currency.

³ The preliminary APE will be used for compliance with Section 106 during the Tier 1 effort; at the Tier 2 effort, it is expected that the Preliminary APE will be refined to a project-specific APE to be used for compliance with Section 106 for Tier 2 projects. It should also be noted that the Preliminary APE is subject to change if input from the SHPOs suggests it should be. The preliminary APE was discussed with the SHPOs during consultations held in March 2013 and again during a review of the Section 106 approach presented to the SHPOs during a September 9, 2013, Environmental Technical Working Group webinar.

The Context Area is 5 miles wide, centered on the representative route for each of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives. Within the Context Area, cultural resources and historic properties will be mapped and qualitatively characterized in order to identify resources that could be affected if the representative route shifts. For resources within the Context Area, general characteristics of, and relative size and location of, cultural resources and historic properties will be presented; the FRA will use this information to supplement the quantitative assessment of effects within the Affected Environment.

Documentation of existing conditions for the Affected Environment and Context Area will be based on the data collected from the sources listed in Table 2. No field investigations will occur as part of the Tier 1 EIS effort; those sites potentially eligible for NRHP listing are neither identified nor included as part of the assessment of environmental consequences due to the fact that field verification of these sites is not part of the Tier 1 effort.

1.5.2 Environmental Consequences

Within the affected environment, environmental consequences will be determined for those areas where a Representative Route of a Tier 1 EIS Alternative overlaps with cultural resources. A qualitative assessment of resources present in the Context Area will be used to supplement that effects assessment.

As part of the Section 106 Strategy for the NEC FUTURE program, a Programmatic Agreement (PA) is being developed to address the evaluation of cultural resources. The PA lays out a phased approach to the identification and assessment to cultural resources. Other PAs developed between ACHP, FRA and FTA will be reviewed and those “actions” that have been cleared through those PAs and are applicable to the NEC FUTURE program will be considered and applied as appropriate.

For example, the PA among the FRA, FTA, CT SHPO, MA SHPO, and CT DOT for the New Haven-Hartford-Springfield (NHHS) High-Speed Intercity Passenger Rail Project, executed on August 9, 2012, provides a treatment plan to resolve cumulative effects of site specific projects on the Historic NHHS Rail Line Historic District, including the construction of elevated platforms and pedestrian bridges at multiple historic passenger stations. This PA would be applicable for actions associated with the NEC FUTURE program as well.

The FRA will assess environmental consequences of each Tier 1 Alternative on cultural resources and historic properties within the Affected Environment as follows:

1. Identify NRHP listed sites and tribal lands and resources that exist within the Affected Environment of each Tier 1 EIS Alternative. This will be done by overlaying the GIS layers of NRHP listed sites, tribal sites and resources, and the Affected Environment associated with each Tier 1 EIS Alternative.

2. Identify portions of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives where visual/aesthetic effects have been identified, and overlay that information with NRHP listed sites identified in Step 1.
3. Identify portions of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives where noise and vibration thresholds are exceeded and overlay that information with the NRHP listed sites identified in Step 1.
4. Identify portions of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives that are within new transportation rights-of-way and/or where new rail service or types are identified and overlay NRHP listed sites identified in Step 1. In these areas, data provided by the SHPOs will also be reviewed to supplement the NRHP data.

For the Context Area, the potential for cultural resources and historic properties will be qualitatively discussed with regard to the potential for change in use or current condition, should there be a shift in a Representative Route.

Temporary construction-related effects to cultural resources will be described as to the location, duration, and type of activity. The NEC FUTURE program overall approach to assessing construction-related effects at the Tier 1 EIS level is further described in a separate Construction Effects Assessment Approach document. Construction methods and activities for the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives will be the basis of this assessment and will be described in Chapter 2.

1.5.3 Mitigation Strategies

The FRA will develop a menu of potential mitigation measures on a programmatic scale for further consideration and specific application in Tier 2. An example of programmatic mitigation measures for cultural resources and historic properties would be to incorporate the use of context sensitive design and other design modifications in order to blend proposed infrastructure into the existing setting.

1.6 TIER 1 EIS OUTCOMES

This Tier 1 EIS cultural resources and historic properties assessment will:

- ▶ Identify a preliminary APE
- ▶ Numerically quantify and map NRHP listed sites that could be affected by the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives (i.e., those sites within the Affected Environment)
- ▶ Identify tribal lands that could be affected by the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives
- ▶ Identify those cultural resources and historic properties that are located where visual, noise and/or vibration impacts may occur
- ▶ Identify potential mitigation strategies
- ▶ Describe how compliance with Section 106 will be accomplished during subsequent phases of project development

1.7 APPLICABILITY TO TIER 2 ASSESSMENTS

The FRA will identify ways in which agency coordination during the Tier 1 process could create efficiencies and help streamline subsequent Tier 2 reviews and approvals. For example, the PA will lay out how Section 106 will be complied with in subsequent Tier 2 assessments. The Tier 2 project proponents will consider resources identified as part of the Tier 1 EIS assessment in greater detail so that a determination of effect can be made at the project-level.

Application of Effects-Assessment Methodology

9.2 CULTURAL RESOURCES AND HISTORIC PROPERTIES: APPLICATION OF EFFECTS-ASSESSMENT METHODOLOGY

9.2.1 Variations to Effects-Assessment Methodology

The following variations from the Effects-Assessment Methodology occurred during the process of developing the Tier 1 Draft EIS analysis:

- ▶ National Register of Historic Places (NRHP)-listed resources and National Historic Landmark (NHL) data provided by the National Park Service (NPS) were used for the analysis of the Tier 1 EIS Alternatives. State data were collected and reviewed as appropriate. This variation is similar to other resources as state data availability and quality of data managed by the nine SHPOs were inconsistent throughout the corridor. Only tribal resources identified as part of the NPS database have been included in the cultural resources and historic properties analysis.
- ▶ NHLs were qualitatively highlighted because they are nationally significant properties, possess the highest level of designation granted by NPS, and thus require more stringent consultation under Section 106. Specifically, resolution of adverse effects on NHLs would require consultation with the Secretary of the Interior and Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP), in addition to the lead agency and relevant SHPO, which is standard procedure for all NRHP-listed and eligible resources. This Tier 1 Draft EIS analysis represents the first step in the phased Section 106 analysis outlined in the Programmatic Agreement See Appendix G.
- ▶ Only the Representative Routes and associated station footprints for each Action Alternative were used to assess the Environmental Consequences, instead of the broader 1-mile-wide Affected Environment. This modification was made because the number of NRHP-listed resources and NHLs within the Affected Environment in urban areas is vast. Most importantly, the narrower swath yielded more meaningful data about the actual resources that are known to exist in the footprints of Representative Routes and associated stations. Because of this, these resources have the greatest potential to be directly impacted by project implementation.

9.2.2 Data Variations

The following variations from the identified data sources in the Effects-Assessment Methodology occurred during the process of developing the Tier 1 Draft EIS analysis:

- ▶ The NPS database has erroneous resource location data in some instances. Therefore, improperly sited resources were removed from the Affected Environment/Environmental Consequences table where easily discerned. The NPS did not provide confidential locational data for NRHP-listed archaeological sites; therefore, they were not included in the table.
- ▶ The Environmental Consequences also considered impacts on railroad-related NRHP-listed and a limited number of eligible resources within the Representative Routes of each Tier 1 EIS Alternative based on two additional sources of information:
 - A list of NRHP-listed and eligible railroad-related resources compiled by NPS.
 - Determination of NRHP eligibility letters from several SHPOs regarding railroad-related resources. This allowed potential impacts to historically significant railroad-related resources to be highlighted early in the project, and thereby enable project planners to determine where mitigation and minimization measures may be necessary as the project moves forward.

9.2.3 Criteria for Analysis

Existing Conditions

- ▶ Cultural resources that are NHLs in the Affected Environment and Context Area are identified in the qualitative analysis.

Environmental Consequences

- ▶ Environmental Consequences quantify the number of instances where the Representative Routes bisect NRHP-listed resources and NHLs. All NRHP-listed resources and NHLs are included in the counts. Because all NHLs are also listed in the NRHP, to avoid double-counting, NHLs were tallied separately.
- ▶ Qualitative Highlights within the data tables provide the name of each NRHP-listed resource and NHL in the Representative Routes. Qualitative highlights also flag states and Counties where new Representative Route rights-of-way are proposed.
- ▶ The data tables have a column labeled “Qualitative Highlights” under Environmental Consequences that lists the name of each NRHP-listed resource and NHL in the Representative Routes of the Action Alternatives. NRHP-listed resources and NHLs in station footprints were also noted.

Environmental Consequences – Stations

- ▶ Environmental Consequences quantify the number of instances associated with stations that bisect NRHP-listed resources and NHLs. All NRHP-listed resources and NHLs are included in the counts. Because all NHLs are also listed in the NRHP, to avoid double-counting, NHLs were tallied separately.
- ▶ Qualitative Highlights within the data tables provide the name of each NRHP-listed resource and NHL in the station footprints. Qualitative highlights also flag states and Counties where new Representative Route rights-of-way are proposed.
